TAHOE STOCKMEN HAVE FINE MEET ON SATURDAY

At the Tahoe Stockmen's Association meeting in Nevada City Saturday, M. W. Church was re-elected as chairman, Robert Blackford was elected vice chairman; Vernon Stoll secretary, and Dan Ruth, C. L. Harding, George Smith, Charles Loney and Jesse Ennor as directors.

An interesting talk was given by Dr. H. R. Gilbert of the Agricultural College at Davis, on feed or range cattle. He gave results of experiments on animal nutrition made in this country and other sections of the state, in the feeding of range cattle. He also explained what the experiment station was trying to do for the forest service. All the stockmen present were particularly interested in his talk.

W. P. Wise of the California Wool Association, brought out conditions regarding cattle, sheep and hog raising and gave a interesting view of the conditions arising out of the rectne enactment of Congress known as the Taylor Grazing bill.

R. L. P. Bigelow, superintendent of the Tahoe National Forest, gave a detailed report on work done by the CCC boys on range improvements and water development, which will benefit the stock industry in the national forests. The Tahoe National Forest Service has turned back a great deal more to the stockmen and public in general in improvements and money over what it has taken it in revenues.

Resolutions of appreciation were tendered by the stockmen to John A. McIntosh, ranger of the Emigrant Gap district, who is retiring some time in March, after 27 years of faithful service in the Tahoe National Forest.

J. Nelson discussed general range conditions in California and stated that it looked more cheerful this year than last. Feed conditions of the state are better than in many years. Feed was scarce last year and early fall rains have benefitted this season.

A resolution was passed recommending the Forest Service be retained in the Department of Agriculture and another resolution was made strongly urging enforcement of predatory animal control work.

Several other Forest Service officials and stockmen gave interesting talks on their ideas of the stock industry as covered by the regulation of the National Forest rules and regulations. Throughout the whole meeting there was a better feeling and optimism for the outlook of the coming season.

Abut 45 enjyed the splendid luncheon at the National Hotel.

MERRIAM OK'S 37 MILLIONS FOR ROADS, 1935-37

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 7. — The budget of new construction of California highways for the biennium 1935-37, totaling projects costing $37,807,000, was approved today by Governor Frank F. Merriam. It was submitted by Harry A. Hopkins, chairman of the California Highway Commission.

Governor Merriam examined each item in this allocation of the gas tax, motor vehicle fees and federal aid revenues in consultation with Director of Finance A. E. Stockburger and Director of Public Works Earl Lee Kelly.

The new construction budget provides sums for 181 distinct highway jobs scattered throughout California. These individual jobs range in cost from a few thousand to the sum of $4,300,000 for the approaches to the Golden Gate and San Francisco-Oakland bay bridges in San Francisco, Alameda and Marin counties.

Of this new construction, $19,735,254 is spent in Northern California and $18,071,746 in Southern California, in accordance with law in the terms of the Breed Bill.

In addition to the new construction budget of $37,807,000, the other items or fixed charges of the Division of Highways budget are as follows: Maintenance $15,215,590, administration and engineering $2,45,000, allocatio to cities $5,812,500. Totaling $61,285,000, which is the estimated revenue from the 3c gasoline tax, motor vehicle fees and federal aid during the biennium 1935-37.

The revenue sources are estimated to yield the following: State's portion of gasoline tax (2c) $43,500,000, motor vehicle fees $5,300,000, federal aid $9,485,000. Totaling $61,285,000.

The sum of $15,215,500 allocated to maintenance keeps 14,000 miles of primary and secondary highways of California's system in perfect condition. This work includes bridge repair and painting, slide removal, storm damage repair, reoiling of roadway surface and shoulders, snow removal on 3,000 miles of highway, traffic striping, repairing guard rails and installing signs and signals.

INCREASE IN N. C. BANK DEPOSITS IS OVER $200,000

E. M. Rector, vice president of the local branch of the Bank of America, in an interview today made an interesting statement concerning the local bank.

Referring to the year end statement of the Bank of America N. T. & S. A., and its associated bank, the Bank of America (Calif.) which appeared in the Nevada City Nugget on January 4th and which showed earnings for the year 1934 to be $11,443,000 and about which statement A. P. Giannini, Chairman of the Board and President, said: "The State of California has had an exceptionally good year, and its prosperity is reflected in the report of Bank of America with total deposits of $997,696,000 as of December 31. For the latter half of the year earnings amounted to $6,229,000, or more than a million dollars a month."

Mr. Rector said:

"The foregoing will no doubt be of interest to the general public. The local community will be doubly interested to learn that the increase in deposits at the Nevada City Branch during the past year is well over two hundred thousand dollars, a ratio of increase well in line with the progress shown by the bank as a whole. It is also in order to point out that while the Bank of America system stands at the front in respect to Federal Modernization Loans, the Nevada City Branch's record for loans of this class is proportionately nearly four times that of the bank system as a whole. Incidentally, one of the local Modernization Loans, that made to Mr. Donald R. Strandburg, took the first prize in the recent Modernization Loan contest. Altogether, there is ample evidence that Nevada City is not behind in the progress or loaning facilities of its local banking institution."

DR. REED BATTLES SNOW TO SERVE SICK WOMAN

On Thursday Frank A. Crampton managing the mines at Remington Hill, and Vance Newman, came into Nevada City for medical advice and medicine for Mrs. Crampton, who has been ill nearly two weeks.

The trip was made over four to five feet of snow and the 2½ miles from the mine to the Tahoe-Ukiah highway took nearly five hours. The trip back to camp was through a severe storm and the men did not reach camp until one o'clock Friday morning, only to find Mrs. Crampton's condition worse.

Early Friday morning Vance Newman and Elmer Golden again came out, this time to take a doctor in. Dr. Reed went to Remington Hill and reached there after a long and trying trip.

Mrs. Crampton's illnees is pneumonia and though not critically ill her condition is serious. As soon as she can be moved she will be brought into town and placed in the Jones Memorial hospital.

THE FIRST COMPLAINT TO OUR NEW SHERIFF WAS FILED TODAY

Sheriff Carl Tobiassen had hardly caught his breath after taking over the duties of the Sheriff's office today when a complaint was filed. The plaintiff was W. W. Davis, of Willow Valley, who stated that linoleum and four bundles of shingles had been stolen from an unfinished house of his in Willow Valley. Upon discovery of the loss Davis hastened to the Sheriff's office and reported. He has great confidence in the new sheriff and expects the thief to be apprehended and his property promptly returned.

Major and Mrs. Frank Chapman have as house guests, Mrs. Chapman's mother, Mrs. Mary Jane Nelson of Salt Lake City, and Miss Gloria Siedler, of Stinson's Beach.

U. S. Aviation Office To Aid Nevada City's Airport Dedication

When the "Spring comes, gentle Annie," and the days are longer and the flowers are beginning to bloom and the now, if any, has retreated to the far heights, there will be a dedication of the Nevada City airport.

And the Federation aviation office in San Francisco promises Nevada City to help put on a real air show in celebration of the event. This is the word left by Robert L. Campbell, chief assistant of Capt. M. B. Doolin, head of the aviation office. Mr. Campbell visited the airport last week and expressed himself as mightly pleased with it.

It is proposed that when the city is ready for the dedication celebration, the Federal aviation office will assist in enlisting all the bird men of the Bay district to make an imposing flight to the new airport. When the airport at Galt was dedicated some years ago, all the students of Marsh field, United States training camp for pilots, near Riverside, flew up for the occasion, squadron after squadron, and it was certainly an imposing spectacle. Something of that kind may be arranged for Nevada City when the time is ripe and the weather is right.

T. A., and enjoying the privileges of that association.

The local P. T. A., was organized here four years ago and is an organization of cooperation between teachers and parents. In addition to furnishing milk, clothes, and medical aid to needy children, they have carried on a series of discussions and talks on Parent-Education.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Justus, of the Round Mountain district, north of Nevada City, lost their home and entire contents and $30 in currency during the past week end by firc. The young couple were so completely taken by surprise that Mr. Justus escaped without his shoes and both were scantily clad. Their car escaped the fire and they drove to Nevada City where they were given shelter at the home of Rev. and Mrs. H. H. Buckner. The next day clothes, shoes, and a place to live were provided by local citizens.

GET 1935 PLATES NOW, WARNING TO MOTORISTS

While new automobile license plates for 1935 are being issued at a lively pace, motorists who delay applying until the final days of the period are likely to become caught in a last minute rush with long waits in line and other inconvenience. This is emphasized by the California State Automobile Association in a statement urging motor car owners to apply immediately for their new plates. Next month a penalty will be imposed upon delinquent applicants, making the cost of plates $6 instead of the regular $3 renewal fee.

A primary requirement for securing new plates is to present the certificate of registration, properly stamped by the assessor to show clearance of personal property tax payment. No plates can be issued without a certificate bearing the tax clearance stamp. This requirement does not apply to cases where the present owner of a car made the purchase since March 5, last.

Plates are being issued by the Division of Registration at offices in various cities, with mail applicattions received at the Sacramento office. The Automobile Association is issuing plates to member motorists at offices in thirty-three cities of northern and central California.

"MAKING MONEY"

Every industry, every worker, every farmer, has a direct interest in the welfare of the mining industry.

A stable and progressive mining industry is absolutely essential to the perpeuation of a modern industrial civilization. Metals enter into everything we buy and need and use.

Mining creates new wealth. It creates jobs, taxes, investments, capital. It literally "makes money." It stimulates the entire industrial and agricultural order—to the benefit of all.

Today the mining outlook seems considerably better than for several years past. New properties are being developed, old ones reopened. If that trend continues, it will be a mighty aid to the cause of general recovery.

PRESIDENT WILSON'S VIEWPOINT

In one of his books, the late ex-president Wilson said: "I do not want to live under a philanthropy. I do not want to be taken care of by the government. . .I want only to have right and justice prevail so far as I am concerned. Give me right and Justice and I will undertake to take care of myself. I will not live under trustees if I can help it. I do not care how wise, how patriotic, the trustees may be. I have never heard of any group of men in whose hands I am willing to trust the liberties of the American people."

Woodrow Wilson, before he became President, was a distinguished educator and historian, and in that statement he ably reflects the true American spirit—the spirit that won our independence, wrote our Constitution, and gave us democratic government. That spirit is the direct antithesis of paternalism. Its base is in the solid rock of individual self-reliance. Its image is the typical American who, like the War President, wants no one to determine his destinies, and wants only, under fair conditions, to carve out his own future.

If we, as a people, lose that spirit, the word Democracy will ring hollowly indeed. The nation abounds with those who would have us accept paternalism, fascism, communism —one form or another of dictatorship. They would have us surrender our liberties to a group of public trustees. And by doing that we would, in the fine words of the old saying, be trading our inheritance for a mess of pottage.

BETWEEN THE LINES

By Alexander McNulty

History may be defined as a record of man's sorties into unexplored fields and his subsequent retreats. Fortunately each sortie usually results in some small advance, or what we call progress. Unfortunately neither individuals nor nations are prone to profit from the experiences of others but must needs learn by their own experience.

In the matter of so-called unemployment insurance, everything seems to indicate that the solution of the problem is to be sought in the orthodox manner of treating it as a form of insurance—employees, employers and perhaps government contributing to a fund from which victtims of unemployment would draw during periods of unemployment.

The United States is the only of the major industrial nations that has not made some attempt in recent years to make some provision to mitigate this evil. England is the nation with most experience in this field. Years ago, before the great war even, England, with fifty years of recorded statistics in employment matters, believed that by means of proper organization of the labor markets, the establishment of employment exchanges and the development of a planned policy of public works to take up slack employment when private enterprise lagged; unemployment could be considered an insurable risk and that an unemployment fund might reasonably expected to be kept solvent. Post-war unemployment however, has subjected the system of unemployment insurance to so intolerable a strain that its breakdown is admitted. The direct cost to government in making up deficits in the unemployment fund has been tremedous. The unseen costs, industrial disorganization, the waste and loss involved in idle machines and workless wage earners, and the evils of poverty, are inestimable.

Today England, after years of study and experience in this form of insurance, is convinced that the unemployment problem is chronic, continuous and practically universal. Its causes are fundamental and are entirely due to changes that have taken and are taking place within the productive system itself. Modern and continuously improving methods of power production with its inherent opportunities for enormous ptential wealth, well being and leisure for all, has instead become the basic cause of the evils of poverty, demoralization and enormous direct cost. Logically, England has reached the conclusion that the solution of the problem is in a more equal distribution and consumption of the articles of use and a more equal distribution of work and leisure. Money policy, control of prices and the shorter word day are recognized as vitally important in any endeavor to remedy the evils of unemployment and to achieve their desired ends.

In view of England's long experience in this field and the fact that policies of price control, money and other social and economic questions shuld logically be considered from an international viewpoint, a golden opportuntiy for some arrangement along these lines between the United States and Great Britian presents itself.

PONDEROSA WAY PROVES SUCCESSFUL FIRE BREAK

The Ponderosa Way, an 800 mile firebreak 200 feet wide, separating the timber from the brush country on the San Joaquin and Sacramento Valley boundaries of the central and northern national forests of California proved its value during the fire season of 1934. According to the San Francisco headquarters of the Forest Service, this firebreak stopped nine out of eleven large fires from spreading into the timbered regions above the Ponderosa Way.

Forest officers consider this a good record in view of the unfinished condition of parts of this, the world's longest firebreak. Two of the eleven fires which swept up to the Ponderosa Way were carried over it by exceptionally high winds which would have rendered any firebreak useless. The Ponderosa Way topped a total of 15 miles of going fires with a large saving of valuable ttimber and watershed cover.

Have You Heard?

FRENCH CORRAL, Jan. 7.—A centralized army air force of approximately 900 fighting planes, available almost instantly as a unit for attack or defense, was organized today at the War Department.

The force the establishment of which was termed by Secretary Dern "the most important and evoluntionary step toward moderni zation" of combat units since the World War will be known as the General Headquarters Air Force. The commander will be Lieutenant Col. Frank M. Andrews.

Actual establishment of the force will take immediate command of the army's aerial fighting units from Major Gen. Benjamin D. Foulois, chief of the Army Air Corps. The fighting planes will be placed under the chief of the staff, now General Douglas MacArthur.

The Baker Aviation Committee in its report last summer, recommended the request for the Army Air Corps. The Committee contends that the budgetary provision for these airships will bring the Army's strength in planes up to approximately 2,400, which, according to the authorities, is the minimum considered necessary to meet our peace time army requirements.

We can all congratulate the War Department for not hesitating in acceding to the Baker request, and we hope that it will carry out the recommendations which have already commended themselves, without dissent. As long as all the countries across the Atlantic and the Pacific are strutting around with a chip on their shoulders we have to agree that the requests are sane, moderate and just.

Included among the studies recommended by the Committee are liquidcooled aircraft engines, basic aircraft materials, instruments for aviation and blind landings, communication equipment, armament, including combat equipment, mobile field and ground equipment, safety devices, and the construction of research equipment including wind tunnels for the study of wind and wing control.

We must bear in mind that the next war will be fought almost entirely in the skies and if our Air Corps can be built up great enough to demand respect from other countries we need not fear, too greatly, the necessity of becoming embroiled in another conflict of any description.

Have you heard how our flag, the Stars and Stripes was named "Old Glory" in 1831 by a Salem skipper, William Driver, at that time captain of the brig Charles Doggett?

Just before the brig left Salem, a young man at the head of a party of friends saluted Captain Driver on the deck of the Doggett and presented him with a large and beautifully made American flag. Captain Driver christened it "Old Glory." He took it to the South Pacific, and years after, when old age forced him to relinquish the sea, he treasured the flag.

Captain Driver removed to Nashville, Tennessee in 1837, and he died there in 1886. Previous to the outbreak of hostilities between the North and the South, "Old Glory" was flung to the breeze every day from the window of Captain Driver's Nashville house, but when the bullets began to zip and the odor of gunpowder to taint the air, the old flag had to be secreted.

It was kept out of sight inside a great bed comforter, until February 27, 1862, when Brigadier General Nelson's wing of the Union army, appeared in Nashville, and Captain Driver presented it to the general to be hoisted on the capitol. It was run up, and Captain Driver himself did the hoisting. He watched it through the night, and a heavy wind came up, he took it down and sent a new flag up in its place.

The original "Old Glory" was beginning to ribbon. The second flag owned by Captain Driver was given to the Ohio Sixth when that regiment left Nashville for home. It was placed in the rear of a baggage wagon where a mule nosed it out and devoured it. The original "Old Glory" was preserved, and after the death of Captain Driver is was presented to the Essex Institute at Salem.

WEEKLY COMMENT

Christian Andersen

Are you a folder-upper? or are you one of those people who reads a newspaper and then lays it down all messed up? If you are, the latter let me suggest that you change your ways. After you read the sheet fold it neatly and lay it in plain sight so that the next fellow can find it. Then they will take your example, also becoming the desirable person called a folder-upper.

Something should of course be said about the new infant 1935, but as usual everybody beats me to the draw, but you just wait till next year.

There can be no real reason why our schools should not abandon the standardization process into which they have been allowed to drift. I of course, do not wish to hold any one up for ridicule, but the process has been one of general experimentation and tryout. The teachers (some of them) have become aware of this sinister influence but with their hands tied there has been nothing they could do. I am of the opinion that within the next year a change will come about which will put the teaching of children on a sane, sophisticated basis.

I have driven automobiles approximately 500,000 miles (80,00 in the last two years) and although I thoroughly approve of drinking and myself enjoy to look into the bottom of the cup. I have always refused to take a dring (yes, not even one) whenever I am driving, steadfastly holding the opinion that a motor car is a most dangerous lethal weapon for murder that has ever been devised. Even when one is stone sober, but when a person has been drinking they should shun driving as they would a deadly poison.

Perhaps this column seems a bit preachey to you with which I feel sure you will bear just once, so to you Nevada City citizens as I attempted to show you last year YOUR CITY LIES IN THE MOST STRATEGIC CONTACT WITH THE MOUNTAIN PLAYGROUNDS. Let me in all humility urge you again to put some life into your chamber of commerce(yes, it will take a few dollars) but the effort and the money will come back to you a hundred fold and proportionate to the amount I earn I will help.

Again, I humbly suggest that you ACTUALLY use your chamber of commerce to further the welfare of all the people of this, the ENTRANCE TO THE MOUNTAIN PLAYGROUND. Let us stop giving lip service to the idea, let us actually get down to brass checks and DO SOMETHING ABOUT IT.

Conversation overheard in Nevada City post office, woman at window: "Why don't you keep some blotters on the public writing desk in this lobby?" Clerk "Well madam I am sorry to be as frank as I must to explain this to you. A certain type of people come in her and actually write such filthy language on them that in order not to have someone offended by this terrible language we have had to stop putting blotters on the desks." All I can hope for is that the person who is guilty of such work will see this note and realize how wrong they are.

American Bankers Association President Announces Move to Stimulate Newspaper Advertising

NEW YORK.—Plans for stimulating wider use of informative newspaper advertising by banks in promoting public understanding and confidence in regard to existing banking conditions and methods have been announced by R. S. Hecht, President of the American Bankers Association, as a part of his organization's activities in aid of business recovery.

A general groundwork was prepared through a nationwide survey of advertising by banks relative to their willingness to extend justifiable loans to industry and trade. This, he said, revealed that a large number in all parts of the country are pursuing aggressive policies along this line and encouraging their customers to develop forward looking business plans. "It is our aim to aid in fostering this constructive attitude wherever possible," he said.

The Theme of New Advertising

The association's Advertising Department, under the direct supervision of the general executive officers, has prepared, at the headquarters in New York City, an informative advertising series for the use of member banks in the association to aid them in developing in their own communities better general public understanding regarding banking, Mr. Hecht said.

"The underlying theme of this advertising is that sound banking is based on helpful human relations and that it has a unity of interest with the people of its community which binds them together with a common purpose," he said.

"We are confident that if a clear understanding of this is brought home to the people in all our banking communities, it will go far in restoring the public confidence which good banking deserves. A bank in which people deservedly believe is doubly safe. It is to the public interest for the people to have confidence in their banks.

The Place of Advertising

"We feel that bank advertising has a special public duty to perform in this connection under existing conditions. The copy which will be supplied in the service we have developed will not only aid the individual bank in promoting the use of its own facilities but is also aimed to bring about with the aid of newspaper advertising a clearer public viewpoint regarding the essential part it occupies in the life of its community."

Mr. Hecht emphasized in regard to the new advertising facilities being offered to the members of the association that they are not a profit making venture and that there is no intention to disturb existing advertising arrangements, the idea being that these institutional services shall supplement rather than replace present plans, or that they will give assistance to member banks now lacking satisfactory arrangements.

A. P. GIANNINI FORESEES BETTER YEAR THAN LAST

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 7.—California has just completed an exceptionally good year, and with agriculture, the basic industry of the state, enjoying substantial increases in farm value of practically all products, 1935 should prove a better year, according to A. P. Giannini, chairman of the Board of Bank of America.

Market conditions are good and with farmers generally operating on a profitable basis, a large proportion of the state's population has been able to better its economic position materially, reduce its debt substantially and employ its increased purchasing power to the benefit of other industries during 1934, Giannini said.

"As California is a major factor of the business of the Pacific Slope, it is not surprising to find that the Far Western States reflect this improvement," said Giannini. "For the first eleven months of 1934, the Far West gained almost 11 per cent in bank deposits, 18 per cent in carloadings, 8 per cent in electric power production and more than 10 per cent in retail sales.

"With the building trades and the durable goods industries showing the effects of the stimplus of the National Housing Campaign, California and the Far West should have a better year in 1935 than in 1934. As the cooperation of business with President Roosevelt and his aims spreads throughout the nation, the improvement should become general in the United States."

Principal changes indicated for the near future in the field of banking will be brought about through permissive legislation, rather than management policy, Giannini believes. It is his opinion that eventually three major changes will be brought about in the banking structure of the nation, all of them dependent upon national legislature action for accomplishment.

"The first of these changes is the creation of a central credit authority, which will probably result from an adaption of the present Federal Reserve system," said Giannini. "The need for it has been amply demonstrated, and under its authority there is hope that the credit structure of the past will be avoided in the future.

"The second change is the creation of a unified national banking system to replace the 49 national and state systems now operative. This will involve the coordination of existing governmental agencies into one system for examination of banks, with resulting elimination of red tape and curtailment of expense to the taxpayers.

"The third change is one which I have advocated consistently, and which latterly has shown itself to be nearing fruition. I refer to the expansion of branch banking beyond the limits imposed by existing legislation. Cngress at its last session empowered national banks to operate branches in accordance with the laws of the states served by the banks.

"The next move may be to permit national banks to operate statewide systems in all states. It may permit the expansion of branch banking systems to Federal Reserve districts or larger trade areas, but regardless of the next immediate legislative move, nationwide branch banking is an eventual certainty. Other business is permitted to operate on a nationwide basis, and if the nation is to benefit from the progress of banking practice, branch banking must be nationwide."

NEW WEALTH FROM SOIL

New wealth which comes from the soil is of special interest to those to whom falls the responsibility of maintaining our credit structure.

Unless agriculture is successful farm borrowers cannot ultimately succeed, neither can the banks they serve. Foreclosure sales are not a sound basis for good farming or good banking. Bankers, therefore, are as much interested in the permanent success of the agricultural industry as are the farmers, whether the deposits come directly from farm patrons, or indirectly through the ordinary channels of business.—D. H. Otis, Director of Agriculture, American Bankers Association

NEVADA THEATRE SHOWS "BARRETTS OF WIMPOLE STREET" TONIGHT. TUES.

If you wish to see what has been chosen as one of the ten best pictures of the year, hurry to the Nevada Theatre and relax in the lavender and old lace of "The Barretts of Wimpole Street," starring Norma Shearer, which will play tonight and Tuesday.

The cast includes some of the greatest names of filmdom, headed by three winners of the Motion Picture Academy Award: Norma Shearer, Fredric March and Charles Laughton. The romantic team's beautiful presentation of an idyllic love story is all the more accentuated by the diabolical character Charles Laughton makes of the elder Barrett.

Never was Miss Shearer more beautiful or charming, nor March more ardent, nor Laughton more fascinatingly Laughton. The supporting players hold their own, even with these experts of dramaturgy. They are Maureen O'Sullivan, Ralph Forbes, Una O'Connor, Katherine Alexander, Marion Clayton, Leo Carroll, Ian Wolfe and Ferdinand Munier—each excellent in his part.

Of Sidney Franklin's direction, no more can be said than that it surpasses even "Smilin' Through" and "The Guardsman."

"BROADWAY BILL"

All the charm and whimsical romance of Frank Capra's "It Happened One Night" have been recaptured and embellished by the great director in his newest Columbia production, "Broadway Bill," a film which undoubtedly ranks as Capra's greatest achievement with the camera. Deftly and with the artistry that is singularly his own, Capra has woven about the simple story of a man and a girl who forsake the luxuries of life for the freedom of a nomad's existence, a delightful, heart-satisfying romantic drama.

"Broadway Bill" will be shown Wednesday and Thursday at the Nevada Theatre. Particularly edifying the portrayals by Warner Baxter and Myrna Loy in the co-starring roles. Baxter is grand as the life-loving Dan Brooks; Miss Loy is utterly delightful in a role more charming and colorful than her characterization in "The Thin Man."

By this time it is evident that much of the success of Capra's productions are definitely related to the sparkling scripts turned in by Robert Riskin, the man responsible for the screen adaption of "Lady for a Day," and "It Happened One Night" in addition to "Broadway Bill." The screen play is based on a short story by Mark Hellinger, newspaper columnist.

The large and imposing cast acquits itself admirably under Capra's inspired direction. Walter Connolly turns a grand flawless portrayal, Helen Vinson is superb as the social-climbing wife; Clarence Muse is his usual comic self; and Margaret Hamilton, Raymond Walburn, Lynne Overman, Frankie Darro and Edmund Breese contribute to the film's general excellence.

LEGISLATION PROPOSED TO AID PRIMARY WORK SMALL MINING PROJECTS

Legislation, designed to eliminate present rigid legislation surrounding Federal aid to mining projects, long sought by the Gold Mining Association of America, jumped into the spotlight today when Congressman Scrugham announced he would introduce a bill in the House providing for the appropriation of $10,000,000 to be used in financing primary development work of worthy gold and silver mines.

PITTMAN BACKS BILL

It was learned that Senator Pittman, anxious to aid the establishment of small mining properties, had agreed to introduce the same bill in the Senate.

The bill, to be offered as an amendment to section 14 of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation act, provides for loans not exceeding $10,000 each to be made by the RFC to corporations, individuals and partnerships engaged in mining. The loans to be made for the express purpose of developing quartz lodes, ledges, veins or other ore bodies or placer deposits containing gold or silver.

MINERS INDORSE

Intended as an aid to the small operators needing financing to further develop properties to later become eligible for a larger RFC loan, the measure is known to have the enthusiastic support of Western mining factions in both houses of Congres.—S. F. Chronicle.

A Dutch Treat

Holland's gift to international hairdressers is this unique coiffure. Resembling a flower-besprinkled Netherlands hillside, windmill and all, it is aptly named "Dutch Flower Garden."

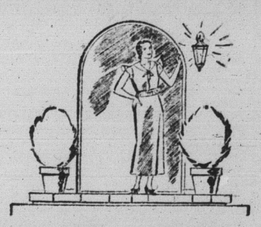
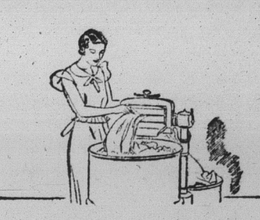
A WHISPERING CAMPAIGN is telling the story of ½ OFF on EXTRA ELECTRICITY



"WHY I LEFT THE PORCH LIGHT ON ALL NIGHT."

And my, how this lady worried about it. But it wasn't worth worrying about because with ½ Off on Extra Electricity, a 60 watt lamp will burn 24 hours for 1¢.



"YOU KNOW I DID A LOT OF WASHING LAST MONTH."

Now this lady took us at our word—that ½ Off on EXTRA Electricity was cheap electricity. She ran her electric washer 12 EXTRA hours in December, and although she couldn't notice it, her bill was only seven cents higher for all that extra service from her electric washer.

"JACK SAT UP TO ALL HOURS STUDYING."

Then, too, Jack had one of the new Better Sight study lamps with a 200 watt globe. His studying was made easier and he got better grades in all his subjects. It was certainly worth that penny a night for better sight with ½ Off on Extra Electricity.

"THE HOUSE WAS A MESS AFTER CHRISTMAS."

What house isn't quite messy after the tree is taken down! Then out comes the vacuum cleaner to get rugs and furniture, walls and drapes, all spick and span again. An extra thorough job can be done this January with the low cost ½ Off EXTRA Electricity. 22 hours of electric cleaning for 10¢.

"I THOUGHT AN ELECTRIC REFRIGERATOR COST MORE THAN THAT TO OPERATE."

Hundreds of women are surprised each month to find that the marvelous electric refrigerator cost so little to keep going. But think how cheap it now is to operate on ½ Off EXTRA Electricity. A full month of 50 degree refrigeration for 80¢.

* * *

Yes, indeed, the good word is getting around fast. ½ Off on EXTRA Electricity is a genuine bargain.

PRODUCTION OF GOLD SHOWS A BIG INCREASE

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 7.—The lure of the $35 an ounce price established last February has spurred California's 1934 gold production to a level well above that of last year.

Peter J. Haggerty, superintendent of the United States Mint here, reported today that during the first eleven months of this year California miners deposited 463,008,609 fine ounces of the yellow metal at the mint, as compared with 323,224,936 for the corresponding period of 1933.

MINT PAYS $15,021,436.57

The mint paid $15,021,436.57 for gold received this year up to November 30.

Haggerty's figures reveal the November purchases of 45,648,977 ounces are second this year only to the July total of 51,715.27 ounces are are well above last year's November receipts of 36,521,369.

ACTUALLY EXCEEDED JULY

The mint superintendent explains that November production actually was higher than that of July but that, because the mint was closed during the last seven days of June, there was a week's carry-over into July.

Although the mint figures show a substantial increase in California's gold production, they likewise reveal that receipts of scrap gold, jewelry mountings and old gold are declining. From a mere 385 ounces sold to the mint in January, gold purchases from this source mounted to 21,880 ounces during July and then sagged until only 13,529 ounces were received in November.

ISLANDS ARE SECOND

Total newly-mined gold deposited at the mint during the first eleven months of this year is valued at $21,855,438.92, with the Phillippine Islands ranking second to California as a producer. Phillippine gold sold to the mint brought $2,944,538.10, Arizona gold $1,124,718.07 and Nevada gold $1,115,276.78.

Gold purchases from all sources during 1934 raised the total stock in the mint to $236,428,710.68 on November 30.

FOREST RECREATIONAL AREAS SHOW PROFIT

For every acre of national forest land in California occupied by recreational uses under permit from the Forest Service, the state receives $4.50, according to a recent survey made by L. A. Barrett, assistant regional forester of the Forest Service headquarters in San Francisco. These returns are made by the state to the 39 counties in which 8,000 recreational special use permits have been issued in the 18 national forests of California for summer homes, hotels, resorts and muncipal or private camps.

Recreational permits are the most intensive of all uses of national forest lands, according to Forest Service officials. The 7,500 acres occupied bring in a total of $135,000 per year in rentals, of which 25 per cent is returned to the state for distribution to the counties, in addition to what they collect in county taxes on recreational improvements having an estimated value of over $7,000,000.
